CEO'S BIOGRAPHY

Bale Ola-Olu

Trained as a professional sculptor at the Department of Fine Art, Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria (Zaria Art School), Bale Ola-Olu holds both a Master of Fine Art Degree and a Ph.D. Degree in sculpture.

Keen on art and its endless possibilities, Bale is an artist who majorly derives his artistic inspirations from nature, as well as, his immediate environment. This is evident in the thematic choices for his artistic explorations. As such, diverse musical instruments like guitars, and drums; domestic animals like fishes and birds; household utensils, the northern landscapes, and several other items and entities, found in the day-to-day existence of man, are incorporated in most of his abstracted and naturalized expressions. Hence, his art has been seen to address salient social and political issues; some of which have their traditional inclinations. In recent years, Bale's artistic prowess has been focused on the erection of monumental sculptures. Producing such gigantic pieces, using steel reinforced Polystyrene as a major medium of expression, Bale is regarded as the first sculptor in Nigeria to adopt polystyrene in producing such gigantic sculptures.

CEO'S BIOGRAPHY

Several of such commissioned works are scattered around in Lagos, Abuja, Kaduna and some other parts of Nigeria. Bale, in his artistic journey believes in mentorship, sharing of ideas, and collaborative efforts in sculptural processes. Hence, in conquering such significant feats in the contemporary Nigerian art arena, Bale not been an island of ideas. He brings in a team of sculptors who collaboratively produce the work as a team. This gesture does not only provide financial benefits to the sculptors, it also serves as a platform for gaining more knowledge and experience in the field of sculpture, given that only few sculptors get such opportunities to produce works of such enormity in their entire career. Also, such avenues help in teaching such sculptors the business of sculpture; as most of the works produced are commissioned projects. Other skills learnt on the job are management skills, intuitive thinking, and team work, amongst others.

Furthermore, as the years rolled by, Bale started manufacturing steel doors, burglaries, bulletproof doors, gates, overhead water tanks, steel furniture, some linear architectural wall fittings, to mention but a few for different clients. In addition to his exploration he started taking industrial attachment students (I.T) from different schools across the country to train them in steel fabrications and entrepreneurship and by so doing he later got several recommendations to train internally displaced persons from Borno state and sundry from a non-governmental organization called iCreate Africa in which he also happened to be a member of their technical team, whose specialty was in training and organizing skills competition to empower youths and were subsequently empowered by the Federal Government of Nigeria through iCreate Africa.
